Income Limits for Applicants

CalWORKs regulations provide for a gross income limit which is determined by subtracting $90 from the earned income of each employed person, then adding all remaining earned and unearned income to determine the gross income for the family. That amount is then compared to the MBSAC (Minimum Basic Standard of Adequate Care) level for the family size. If the family's total gross income after the $90 deduction exceeds the MBSAC level for the family size, the family is not eligible.

MBSAC (Minimum Basic Standard of Adequate Care)

The following chart reflects the current (7/1/2020) MBSAC levels:

of Persons	MBSAC Amount
1	$703
2	$1,155
3	$1,430
4	$1,700
5	$1,944
6	$2,183
7	$2,393
8	$2,613
9	$2,823
10	$3,074
11 & up	+ $29 per person

Customer Responsibility

Once cash is granted, the CalWORKs family must report changes in their income, household composition and property to their case manager at certain times depending on the circumstances of their case.

- Every six months on their Semi-Annual Eligibility/Status Report (SAR 7) or at their annual redetermination for those CalWORKs families that includes an aided adult), or
- Every twelve months for those CalWORKs families where only the children are aided (no adults are being aided)

Some other things must be reported within 10 days of occurrence when:

- a member of the household becomes a fleeing felon or violates a condition of parole/probation, or
- the combined earned and unearned income of the household exceeds the Income Reporting Threshold (IRT) for their household size,
- in some cases, anyone moves into or out of the home.

MAP (Maximum Aid Payment)

The MAP (Maximum Aid Payment) level is established by the California State Legislature based on family size. Families who do not have any income other than CalWORKs receive MAP.

MAP levels vary based on whether or not the adults in the household are able to work.

The MAP level for households with adult caretakers who are able to work is called the Non Exempt MAP Level. It is lower than the MAP level for households with adult caretakers who are not able to work.

When the adults in the household are not able to work because of a temporary or permanent incapacity, the family receives a higher MAP. Child only cases, i.e., cases where no adults are receiving aid, also receive the higher MAP level. This is called the Exempt MAP Level.

The following chart reflects the current (10/01/2019) Non Exempt MAP and Exempt MAP levels:

Persons on Aid	Non Exempt MAP	Exempt MAP
1	$520	$576
2	$661	$739
3	$834	$934
4	$1007	$1122
5	$1180	$1316
6	$1353	$1510
7	$1526	$1702
8	$1699	$1898
9	$1872	$2089
10 or more	$2044	$2286

Work Disregards

When a cash aid recipient is employed or receives disability based income, CalWORKs regulations allow the following deductions from the gross income:

- For disability based income up to $500 can be disregarded (known as $500 DI)
- If any amount of the $500 DI remains, that amount will not be included as earned income when cash aid is calculated
- 50% of the earnings remaining after the above disregards are also deducted.

Any income remaining after the deductions are subtracted from the gross earned income is then subtracted from the MAP amount to determine the amount of the CalWORKs grant.

VAPP (Voluntary Alternative Payee Payment)

CalWORKs recipients may request that their rent or mortgage payment be paid directly to their landlord or mortgage holder. The rent or mortgage amount is deducted from the cash aid payment made to the recipient.

Direct Deposit

CalWORKs recipients may request that their cash aid be automatically deposited into their personal bank account. Applications with instructions for this program are available at each bureau.

Homeless Assistance

Families who are eligible for CalWORKs and who are homeless can apply for a special need payment to meet their costs for temporary and permanent housing. The maximum Homeless assistance payment is based on the size of the number of persons eligible in the CalWORKs family.

CalWORKs families may be eligible to apply for Homeless Assistance benefits to assist with the payment of rent arrearages.

Time Clocks

There is a limit to the number of months an adult can receive CalWORKs in California. From 1/1/98 through 6/30/2011, the time limit was 60 months.

On 7/1/2011, the CalWORKs time limit changed to 48 months.

On 1/1/2013, the CalWORKs time clocks were affected again by a new Welfare-to-Work (WTW) 24 month clock. The 24 month WTW clock allows CalWORKs participants a full array of supportive services that can be used to help the CalWORKs recipient reach independence from public assistance.

When a CalWORKs recipient has used all of their 24 months of the new WTW 24 month clock, even if the recipient has not used all of their CalWORKs 48 month time clock, the adult must continue to participate in a WTW activity that meets the following hourly requirements, to continue to receive CalWORKs up to their 48 months:

- 20 hours per week for single parents with a child under six years old.
- 30 hours per week for single parents with no child under six years old.
- 35 hours per week for two-parent families (combined between two parents).

There are times when the WTW 24 month clock and/or the CalWORKs 48 month clock can be stopped.

In addition, there are some circumstances that can extend CalWORKs beyond the 48 month limit.

Diversion

The Diversion program was implemented in California to offer an alternative (diversion)

from CalWORKs, and divert the CalWORKs applicant from cash aid and avoid the need for extended assistance if provided access to the Diversion program.

The benefits for successfully diverting a CalWORKs applicant are the positive impact to the CalWORKs time clock and the applicant keeps their current/needed employment.

Diversion is only offered when there is CalWORKs eligibility as an alternative to a CalWORKs monthly payment.

Cal-Learn

Cal-Learn is a statewide program for pregnant and parenting teens. The goal of the program is to help teens graduate from high school, become independent and form healthy families.

If you are a pregnant or parenting teen receiving CalWORKs/TANF, you must participate in the Cal-Learn program if you have not yet graduated from high school.

Components of the Cal-Learn program include:

- Teens must attend school and submit their report card to their Cal-Learn case manager; and
- Teens are paid a bonus for satisfactory school progress or high school graduations; or,
- Teens who do not attend school or fail to maintain adequate school progress receive a financial sanction.

Child Care

Aided parents who are employed or enrolled in approved WTW activities may be eligible for subsidized child care services. A separate application is not required.

Medi-Cal

Family members who receive CalWORKs would generally be eligible to receive Medi-Cal benefits at no share of cost. A separate application is not required.

CalFresh – formerly called Food Stamps

If a family is found to be eligible for CalWORKs, the family may also be eligible to participate in the CalFresh Program. A separate application is not required.
